

Tiger Airways set to beat the economic downturn !
Launches biggest ever network from Singapore with launch of summer 2009 schedule

- Terrific Tiger Airways summer sale with fares from just $25 (including taxes) - book from 5 March 2009!
- More seats than ever before now available at amazing fares with new routes launched to Kota Kinabalu and Jakarta
- More seats to China with increase frequency to 11 return flights per week to Guangzhou from 1 July 2009.
- More seats to Malaysia with increase to 34 return flights per week to Kuala Lumpur from July 2009
- Competitors are cancelling flights as Tiger Airways continues to grow.

3 March 2009, Tiger Airways is bucking the global aviation trend and will offer its biggest ever network of seats from Singapore for the forthcoming summer 2009 schedule for the period from 29 March to 24 October 2009. The schedule includes the recently launched daily flights to Kota Kinabalu, a new daily service between Singapore and Jakarta, more services on the ever popular Singapore – Kuala Lumpur route, as well as 4 extra flights a week to Guangzhou bringing the total number of weekly services to 11.

To mark this major milestone in the growth of the airline's home base in Asia, Tiger Airways is launching an amazing seat sale across Asia on Thursday, 5 March 2009. For example Kuching and Kuala Lumpur will be on sale with one way prices from as low as just $25 (including taxes and charges).

Rosalynn Tay, managing director Tiger Airways Singapore, said "Tiger Airways continues to do what we do best, offering the lowest fares to an ever expanding network of exciting destinations across the Asia Pacific region. With these new destinations travelers now have even more choice of great places to visit and amazing low fares. Tiger Airways is yet again demonstrating its position as Singapore's low fare leader by slashing its fares to as low as just $25 inclusive of taxes and charges!"

The addition of Tiger Airways' new destinations and extra frequencies is happening at a time that many other airlines across the region are reducing capacity and grounding aircraft.

Rosalynn Tay said "Across our two airlines in Asia and Australia, Tiger Airways will commence a total of 7 brand new routes this month with the launch of services from Singapore to Kota Kinabalu and Jakarta, together with the start of the airline's second Australian base in Adelaide. Not only is this fantastic news for travellers, as they will benefit from our famous low fares, it also assists the tourism industry and provides a welcome boost to local economies in these difficult economic conditions!"

"It is clear that Tiger Airways offers consumers across the region a fantastic opportunity to travel at affordable fares. These additional flights, new destinations, additional aircraft and more amazingly priced seats than ever before, demonstrate that we will continue to grow our business, even in these difficult trading conditions. We are hopeful that we can secure even more rights from regulators to offer more affordable fares to an even wider range of destinations in the near future as more and more countries continue the trend of regional liberalization."
