- Tiger Airways begins daily flights between Singapore and Jakarta.
- Amazing fares from just $25 inclusive of taxes and charges.
- New Harimau service better suits needs of business travellers.
- Tiger Airways now flies to the capital cities of the 6 largest ASEAN economies.

Monday 30 March 2009 Tiger Airways inaugural daily flight between Singapore and Jakarta took off with a roar yesterday. In celebration the airline has seats on sale between Singapore and Jakarta from a low low $25 inclusive of taxes and charges.

Rosalynn Tay managing director of Tiger Airways Singapore said “This new daily flight between Singapore and Jakarta marks a great day in the history of Tiger Airways. For the first time the airline now serves the capital cities of the 6 largest economies in south East Asia, as well as destinations in China, India and Australia offering travellers more choice, on more flights than ever before with its famous low low fares.”

Not only is Jakarta a new destination on the Tiger Airways network the airline has also introduced a new enhanced Harimau product on its Indonesian routes.

Rosalynn Tay said “Our Harimau service is all about giving travellers choice at the best possible price. From now on travellers on the Indonesian services have the choice of priority boarding, a complimentary refreshment on board and free in-flight magazine, as well as hot meals, beverages and other items available for purchase on the direct flight.”
